Lender Studio

Become a more efficient lead arranger of loans with multiple participants

Better manage and grow loan portfolios with multiple participants

Keeping track of commercial loans can be challenging and managers often find themselves running reports frequently throughout the day to capture upcoming activity. While this process lets them see the information they need at that moment, it's only a snapshot in time that becomes outdated almost the minute the report is run.

Lender Studio provides financial institutions with the tool to administer and lead commercial credits that have been participated or assigned to outside lenders. It enables the management of all loan servicing transactions including drawdowns, lender share management, notifications, and more. With an efficient, real-time view of upcoming activity, activity currently in process, and already-processed activity without having to run reports throughout the day, managers can track progress and loan activities from start to finish. With a customizable dashboard that delivers transparency across all activity, managers have the ability to balance and streamline workflows, allowing them to work smarter, faster, and concentrate on higher level tasks.
